Over two lakh people miss 2nd vaccine dose

Health officials launch door-to-door drive for first and second jabs

A woman being vaccinated by a nurse as part of the door-to-door campaign at Lingambudhipalya.

Mysuru, Nov. 7 (MTY&BCT)- The Mysuru District Health Department, Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), Self Help Groups and other volunteers have launched a door-to-door campaign to vaccinate a large number of unvaccinated people in the city and also in the district.

What is seen as a worrying factor under the imminent threat of COVID third wave is that there are over 2 lakh people who have not taken their second dose and have crossed the 84-day gap between the first and second dose. There seems to be reluctance to take the vaccines assuming that the first dose is more than enough to combat the killer disease.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, District Health Officer Dr. K.H. Prasad said that there are currently 2 lakh beneficiaries in Mysuru District and 1 lakh beneficiaries in Mysuru city, who have not taken the second dose of the vaccine even though the time of prescribed interval between the first and the second dose has already passed. "We have achieved a District average of 89 percent for the first dose and 55 percent for the second dose. We want to make it 100 percent," he said.

"Vaccination coverage is not enough. The cost of people opting not to get vaccinated has the potential to cause a new outbreak. If people decide not to get vaccinated due to hesitancy and doubts, the potential for new outbreaks of COVID-19 remains very high. New variants of SARS-CoV-2 are sprouting, which might be more transmissible and resistant to vaccines," he said.

The District Administration is focusing on ensuring that the two dose coverage continues to rise and that pockets where vaccination efforts might not have yet reached adequately are reached out, including continuing to address concerns about the vaccine and vaccination efforts.

MCC officials said that due to the festival season, even those scheduled to take the second shot have kept away. "We are calling up people, we are surveying housing colonies and slums to find out people who have delayed their second dose and so we have made mobile centres available," said Dr. Prasad.

Drive to check helmetless riding to be intensified from January

Mysuru, Nov. 7 (MTY&DM)- Stating that the drive to check helmetless riding will be intensified across Mysuru from January, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta said that special squads will be formed to conduct rampant checks for helmetless riding and other traffic violations.

Dr. Chandragupta

He was speaking at the Road Safety Campaign launched by the City Police in association with Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA), at MDJA office on Thyagaraja Road yesterday.

Pointing out that the City Police showed some leniency in carrying out checks for road traffic violations for the past several months as the country was in the grip of COVID crisis, Dr. Chandragupta said now that the crisis has subsided, the Police will restart rampant checks from January, 2022 for traffic violations.

Stressing on the need for two-wheeler riders to mandatorily wear helmets for their own safety and not out of fear of the Police, the City Top Cop clarified that the purpose of the drive was not collection of penalties but sensitising the public on importance of wearing helmets.

Maintaining that it is unfair to blame Police or other authorities for accidents that are caused due to traffic violations, he said that vehicle riders must shed common notion that they need not wear helmets for short rounds or errands and helmet was needed only for long travel.

Noting that casualties or serious injuries caused in road mishaps will make a lasting impact on the families of victims, he cautioned against helmetless riding and urged motorists to always follow traffic rules.

Dr. Rajesh of Suyog Hospital, who also spoke, stressed on the need for shifting road accident victims immediately to nearby hospitals. Highlighting the significance of Golden Hour in treatment of accident victims, he underlined the importance of wearing helmets during travel.

On the occasion, City Police handed over helmets to MDJA for distribution to journalists.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

For the first time in three years, the Centre reduced fuel taxes and the move was dutifully followed by some State Governments. But opinion is divided whether it's a trick or treat. The Centre claimed it was a festive gift, while the Opposition called it populist for two reasons — one, the setback in the latest Assembly polls and two, eyeing the upcoming State elections, including in key regions like UP. Regardless, the reduction gives a breather to consumers amid rising global crude oil prices. Strange, but fuel prices have the duality of bringing fortune and misfortune. They fetch revenue prosperity for Governments alright, but they also have the potential to topple them. So it's only logical that the world over, politicians wield it wisely, choosing between economic and political gains. Interestingly, despite the surging pump prices, an IMF official recently recommended maintaining existing fuel taxes in India, as a reduction disproportionately benefits higher-income households, making it 'highly regressive'. The view was endorsed by others too, citing macroeconomy and the moderate impact that duty cuts have on inflation at just about 0.15%. Truth is, the chasm between headline and household inflation is wide and the Centre's pick to go with the latter indicates its willingness to part with economic gains, foregoing Rs. 35,000–45,000 crore in taxes. This is an about-turn from what the Union Finance Minister said in August, outrightly ruling out fuel tax cuts citing the burden of UPA-era oil bonds. That said, we've seen the benefits of a seemingly bad decision last fiscal, when the Centre raised fuel taxes during the pandemic year, earning itself a neat Rs. 3.9 lakh crore in Excise Duties. Consumers have chipped in for the much-needed revenue generation drive during tough times and it's only natural that the Government reciprocates now via tax cuts. If prices breach the estimated $90 per barrel, it should lower duties further and shoulder the taxpayers' burden. — In The New Indian Express

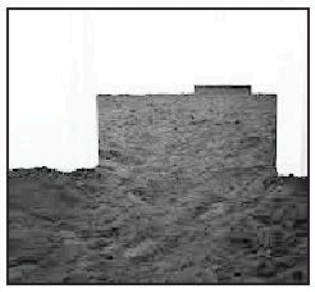
An apartment filled with 140 tonnes of dirt



New York: The New York Earth Room at 141 Wooster Street is a unique NYC attraction created in 1977 by local artist Walter De Maria by filling an apartment with 140 tons of dirt.

Consisting of 250 cubic yards of fertile dirt covering the floor of an apartment located on the second floor of a building on Wooster Street, The New York Earth Room is one of NYC's most unusual artsy attractions. The Dia Art Foundation commissioned local artist Walter De Maria to create it in 1977, and it was opened to the general public in 1980. De Maria had previously created two other earth rooms in Germany, but the one in New York is the only one in existence today. Art lovers can visit the unusual attraction, gaze upon the mass of dirt and take in its earthy fragrance, but they are forbidden from stepping on the dirt or even touching it.

Bat wins 'Bird of the Year' contest

Auckland: A tiny bat made an unexpectedly big impact by winning an annual bird of the year competition in New Zealand. Pekapeka-tou-roa, also known as the long-tailed bat, is one of only a few land mammals native to New Zealand known for its small size.

Controversially, conservationist group Forest and Bird decided to include it in the contest and it went on to win with 3,000 vote lead. The bat, which is close to the size of a thumb and with the wingspan of a human hand, was given its debut to raise awareness of the threats they face. Some were unhappy with the mammal's inclusion, with one Twitter user demanding a recount and another likening the bat to Australia's participation in the Eurovision Song Contest.

Poor quality or unplanned work?

Sir,

The wall belonging to MCC property near Old Kesare Waste Management Plant has collapsed. The boundary wall was constructed in 2019 and it has collapsed in just two years due to recent rainfall.

The drain water is all over the road which is a hindrance for motorists. This clearly shows the poor quality of work by PWD or the construction company concerned. Why is MCC being blind and silent on such sub-standard work and wasting public money?

I request the elected people's representatives to take action against those behind the sub-standard work and contribute in developing a better India as promised by our Prime Minister.

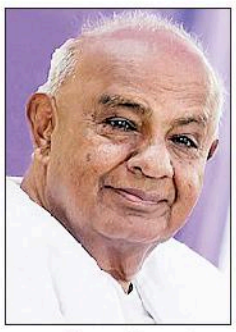
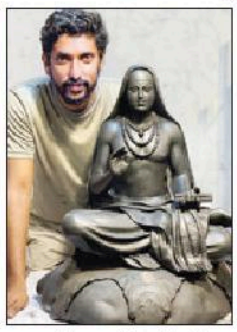
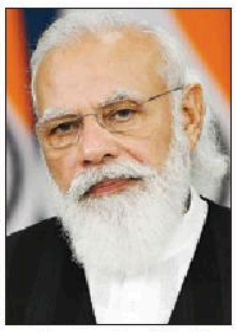
Deve Gowda lauds PM Modi for Shankaracharya statue



Deve Gowda



Arun Yogiraj



Narendra Modi

Bengaluru, Nov. 7- Former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda has congratulated Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his dedication to transform the holy site of Kedarnath following the unveiling of Adi Shankaracharya's statue.

Here is the text of the former PM's letter:

"I was deeply moved to see the very impressive black schist statue of the great saint Sri Adi Shankaracharya being unveiled by you in Kedarnath, on November 5. I congratulate you for the dedication you have shown to the transformation of the holy site."

"I have long been an ardent follower of the Sri Sringeri Sharada Peetham or the Sringeri Math in Chikmagalur district of Karnataka. As you are aware, it is among the four cardinal centres established by the great saint."

"What has particularly attracted me to the Sringeri Math is its inclusiveness. It has been a spiritual counsellor across the centuries to many rulers and kingdoms. As much as the Wodeyars, the Peshwas, the Keladi and Travancore rulers benefited from the Math, Mysore kings Hyder Ali and Tipu Sultan as well as the Nizam of Hyderabad have immensely gained from their devotion to the Math and the wise counsel it offered."

"The glorious tradition of the Math's guidance has continued to the present day. The Sringeri Math, personally for me, has been a refined symbol of inter-faith harmony. I am indebted to the blessings I have received all through my life from this very sacred seat of God."

"I wish to soon visit Kedarnath to see the newly installed statue of the great saint. It is also a matter of great joy that the statue was sculpted by a Mysore sculptor — Arun Yogiraj. I also learn that the black schist is from H.D. Kote in Mysore district of Karnataka. There is so much of Karnataka connection in this endeavour. It is all divinely arranged. May the grace of the almighty be on you."

After Cauvery Aarati at Srirangapatna...

Yuva Brigade performs Mangal Aarati in Tripura

Tripura CM's Office books air tickets; CM Biplab Deb, wife take part in rituals

Mysuru, Nov. 7 (BCT)- Impressed by the Cauvery Aarati performed by Yuva Brigade in Srirangapatna on the night of Oct. 17, on the auspicious day of Tula Sankramana, the team members were invited to Tripura for a similar feat at Mata Tripureshwari Temple and the invite came from none other than Chief Minister Biplab Kumar Deb's Office.

The team from Mysuru was flown to Tripura and the Tripura CM's Office had booked air tickets for them. The two-day Aarati as part of Deepavali celebrations was inaugurated by the CM and he also performed the 'Mangal Aarati' at Kalyan Sagar Lake within the temple premises on the evening of Nov. 4 along with his wife Niti Deb.

Lakhs of devotees participated in the Mangal Aarati and the rituals too were conducted by priests from Nanjangud. The Yuva Brigade team has been performing the Kapila Aarati and Cauvery Aarati for a couple of years on the lines of Ganga Aarati held in the North. The Yuva Brigade's task, attracting thousands each year, has been going viral on social media and this caught the attention of Tripura CM. Mata Tripureshwari Temple is located at Udaipur in Gomati district, Tripura which is about 55 kms away from the state capital Agartala. Every year, nearly 2 lakh devotees visit this holy pilgrimage, considered as one of the 51 Shakti Peeths across the nation.

Popularly known as Matabari, the shrine is set upon a small hillock, since the shape of a hillock resembles the hump of a tortoise (Kurma) and this shape called Kurmapṛṣṭhākṛti is considered the holiest possible site for a Shakti temple, hence also bestowing the name of Kurma Pīṭha.

This year, Gomati District Administration sources claimed that the number of devotees crossed more than 2.5 lakh. This unanticipated crowd occurred due to easing of COVID-19 norms, and special trains routing from Dharmanagar, Agartala and Sabroom to Udaipur.

The Yuva Brigade team comprised priest N.V. Krishna Jois, Srikanth, S. Ravi and Ranjith. As part of the Mangal Aarati, rituals like Ganga Puja, Veda chanting and Sanskrit shloka recital were performed. Happy with the way the rituals were conducted, the Tripura Government has announced that every year, the Yuva Brigade team will perform the Mangal Aarati.

The task of setting up the stage for the Aarati amidst water fell on Ravi who has experience in constructing such stages at Kapila River in Nanjangud and at River Cauvery in Srirangapatna. It is, however, not easy to set up a stage where people can stand to perform Aarati in the middle of a water body. Ravi made the best use of his expertise and set up the stage in Mata Tripureshwari Temple where the rituals were performed.

Congress stages protest against BJP

Mysuru, Nov. 7 (MTY&DM)- Strongly condemning the tirade launched by BJP leaders against former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, the City and District Unit of Congress staged a demonstration in front of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar statue in Town Hall premises here yesterday.

Accusing BJP leaders of distorting the remarks made by Opposition Leader and former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah on BJP Dalit leaders during the campaign in the run up to assembly by-polls, the protestors alleged that the BJP was resorting to cheap gimmicks and making attempts to malign the former Chief minister.

Maintaining that Siddharamaiah has high respect for Dalits, they urged the BJP leaders to immediately stop maligning Siddharamaiah. Cautioning BJP against making any derogatory remarks targeting the former CM, they warned of staging a massive demonstration if the BJP leaders do not withdraw their statements immediately.

KPCC Working President R. Dhruvanarayan, MLC R. Dharmasena, KPCC Spokesperson Manjula Manasa, former MLAs M.K. Somashekar, Vasu and Kalale Keshavamurthy and others were present.

KPCC Working President accuses BJP of misleading dalits

Mysuru, Nov. 7 (MTY&DM)- Accusing the BJP of misleading dalits, KPCC Working President and former MP R. Dhruvanarayan maintained that BJP leaders have no moral stand to criticise former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, who had introduced several programmes for the welfare of dalits and backward classes, when he was in power.

Addressing presspersons at Jaladarshini Guest House here yesterday, Dhruvanarayan contended that BJP leaders were unfairly targeting Siddharamaiah as the Opposition Leader had lashed out at BJP dalit leaders such as Govind Karjol and Ramesh Jigajinagi for joining BJP for personal gains.

KPCC Working President and former MP R. Dhruvanarayan addressing presspersons at Jaladarshini Guest House in city yesterday as former Mayor Ayub Khan, District Congress President Dr. B.J. Vijaykumar, City President R. Murthy, former MLA Kalale Keshavamurthy and Congress Spokesperson H.A. Venkatesh look on.

Hitting out at BJP dalit leaders for not raising their voice when their fellow BJP leaders such as Ananth Kumar Hegde, Tejasvi Surya and B.L. Santosh made unconstitutional remarks that hurt dalit sentiments and feelings, Dhruvanarayan said that these BJP leaders must remember that Siddharamaiah maintained social justice truly by giving representation to all communities in his Cabinet.

Arguing that the present Basavaraj Bommai Cabinet was representative of only dominant communities, the KPCC Working President said that the BJP leaders must take all this into consideration before making any remarks against Siddharamaiah.

Charging the BJP Government of withholding student scholarships of over 30 lakh SC/ST students, Dhruvanarayan asked the BJP leaders to raise their voice on this and other dalit issues, instead of targeting the former CM.

District Congress President Dr. B.J. Vijaykumar, City President R. Murthy, former Mayor Ayub Khan, Party leaders Kalale Keshavamurthy, H.A. Venkatesh, Basavaraj, Seetharam and others were present.

Water release from KRS

No boating at Ranganathittu

A display board announcing the suspension of boating being put up at Ranganathittu this morning. Picture right shows vehicles being told about the change.

Srirangapatna, Nov. 7 (Vinay Karekura&KS)- Following increase in the inflow of water to Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam since the last three days, the same quantity of water is being let out to Cauvery River from the Dam which has increased the water level of the river.

This has forced the Forest Department authorities at Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary near Srirangapatna to temporarily suspend boating service at the bird sanctuary since Nov. 5. But the bird sanctuary is open to the public.

Range Forest Officer (RFO) — Mysuru Wildlife Range — K. Surendra, speaking to Star of Mysore this morning said that the boating service at the bird sanctuary was temporarily suspended on Nov. 5 following rise in water level of Cauvery River. But battery-operated vehicles are available and bird-watching activity is going on and only the boating service is temporarily suspended till the water level recedes, he added.

The KRS authorities, who are maintaining the maximum level of 124.80 ft are releasing excess water which is flowing into the Dam from the catchment areas which are witnessing good rains since a couple of days, resulting in increased water flow to Cauvery River.

On Nov. 5, KRS received an inflow of 6,492 cusecs and the total outflow from the Dam was 6,283. The inflow on Nov. 6 was 8,575 cusecs and the total outflow was 8,366. Today, KRS Dam received 10,658 cusecs water which was recorded at 6 am and a total of 10,449 cusecs has been released from the Dam.

The Forest Department authorities have put up a board at the entrance of the Bird Sanctuary, near the ticket counters, informing the tourists about the temporary suspension of boating service.

Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary is located on the banks of River Cauvery downstream of the KRS reservoir near Srirangapatna and once water is released from KRS Reservoir, it gushes downstream resulting in the increase of water level of Cauvery River in the sanctuary.

The Forest Department, keeping the safety of tourist lives in mind, have temporarily suspended the boating activities. Boating activities will resume once the water level decreases and remains stable.

Male Mahadeshwara Jatra held at Kumbarakoppal

Mysuru, Nov. 7 (MK&DM)- The three-day Male Mahadeshwara Jatra at Kumbarakoppal in city concluded in a grand manner on Saturday, with thousands of people taking part.

The Jatra began with the performance of special pujas at Kumbarakoppal's Mahadeshwara Temple, Adishakti Temple, Basaveshwara Temple, Siddappaji Temple and other temples in the locality on Thursday (Nov.4).

The rituals on the last day (Saturday) began with Mahadeshwara Hulivahana Utsava at 11 am. The Jatra procession traversed through the prominent streets of the locality, with people showering flowers on the presiding deity all along the route. After the Utsava, a Kondotsava was held.

As part of the Jatra, the Mahadeshwara Temple Management had organised a 5 km marathon for children (boys and girls) in the age group of 6 to 18 years, in which over 120 children and teens took part.

The marathon, which commenced from the temple premises, passed through Basavanagudi Circle in Hebbal, Surya Bakery, Ring Road and other prominent roads and concluded at Kumbarakoppal's Adishakti Temple.

The other sporting event held was kho-kho, in which several teams from across the district took part.

Hebbal Government School's retired teacher Naganna was felicitated and the winners of marathon and other sporting contests were given away prizes on the occasion.

Former MLC D. Madegowda, who is also an advisor of Kumbarakoppal Abhyudaya Sangha, and other leaders of the locality were present.

Vaccine

65 mobile teams, 65 static teams

In all, 65 mobile teams have been formed and 65 static teams have been stationed in each MCC ward and there are 600 teams in the district for the door-to-door drive. MCC Commissioner has given 70 vehicles for the campaign and 260 staff, volunteers, Corporators, local health centre staff and Self Help Groups are involved in the task, he added.

"There is absolutely no shortage of vaccines for the door-to-door vaccination drive as the production and supply are as per the target. Vaccine availability is no longer an issue. The issue is to ensure maximum coverage at the earliest," Dr. Prasad said.

MCC officials said that there are several demographics that have not been able to access the vaccination drive due to various reasons. Daily wage workers, for instance, have not been able to go to vaccination centres for the fear of losing out on a day's work and therefore that day's pay.

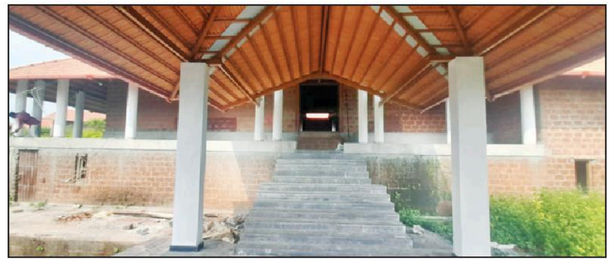
Kodava Heritage Centre to be Kodagu's window to the world, hence a rich asset

'It should be a living museum, a conservatory of information on Kodavas, a place where researchers can seek knowledge'



A Kodava Heritage Centre is being constructed at Vidyanagar near Madikeri, Kodagu District and construction has picked up only now though the idea was conceptualised way back in early 2000 when Rathi Vinay Jha, an IAS Officer (now retired) and a Kodavathi of Codanda family, was the Secretary, Ministry of Tourism, Government of India, in New Delhi.

Rathi Vinay Jha

She is the sister of Codanda G. Somiah, who served as the eighth Comptroller and Auditor General of India and who was known for his honesty and impeccable career record. In fact, it was Rathi Vinay Jha, who came up with the idea of this Kodava Heritage Centre with a Kodava Museum — to be built like the traditional Kodava Ainmane (family dwelling with a quadrangle) — comprising an auditorium, a library, a museum with artefacts, items of excavation, tradition, implements, attire, weapons, etc.

Rathi Vinay Jha spoke to Star of Mysore about the conceptualisation of Kodava Heritage Centre, the delayed process, the way forward and also the role of Kodava Samajas and the community in realising the intentions of the Centre. Excerpts:

By B.C. Thimmaiah

Star of Mysore (SOM): How did you conceptualise the Kodava Heritage Centre? Being a top bureaucrat, what went through your mind when the seed began to germinate? Was it giving back to your homeland or to uphold the unique Kodava culture?

Rathi Vinay Jha: I was Secretary to the Union Ministry of Tourism from 2001 to 2004. Among the many projects that were initiated in India at that time, this one in Kodagu was to set up a Heritage Centre to showcase Kodavas as a unique cultural entity. In spite of the beauty of our land and the rich culture and traditions of the people, till this time there was not a single grant of this order to Kodagu district.

So, in early 2004, the Ministry of Tourism gave a grant of Rs. 5 crore to Government of Karnataka to develop a lot of important landmarks in Kodagu. The State Government identified more than 15 sites to be improved such as Raja's Seat, Abbi Falls, Gaddige, Iruppu Falls, Nalknad Palace, etc., and work was carried out on them. Out of this Rs. 5 crore grant, an amount of Rs. 1 crore was specifically earmarked to construct a Kodava Heritage Centre. This Centre was to be a museum, a research centre, a venue to showcase our traditions of dance, music and much else.

SOM: The foundation stone was laid on Sept. 21, 2011. Much water has flown under the bridge since then but work has progressed only a little. Who has to take the blame for this fiasco?

Rathi Vinay Jha: Though the project was sanctioned in 2004, there was little progress till 2010 when land was identified in Madikeri. It had to be set up in a central place with assured visitor footfalls and Madikeri was therefore suited to this concept. And then the construction was taken up in 2011 by the Public Works Department (PWD). However, I suppose bureaucratic apathy and a bad choice of contractors led to shoddy construction. And to add to that the contractor was also suspended as he had not done his work properly leading to loss of public funds and an incomplete building.

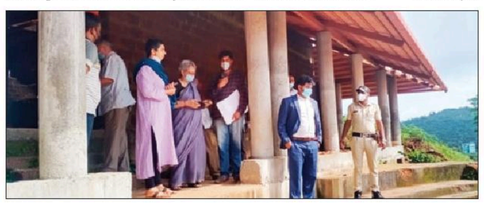
There has been an effort to complete this construction more recently but I hear it is stuck again for required sanction of additional funding. The Government of Karnataka (Department of Tourism) must take interest and responsibility to ensure completion of not just the construction of building but also commission the Kodava Heritage Centre. The Kodagu Deputy Commissioner must be entrusted with this task of overseeing and completing the Centre.

SOM: What did you find amiss during your visit to the Heritage Centre in the first week of October this year? You were mentioning the difficulty you had faced while climbing the steps.

Rathi Vinay Jha: I did visit the construction site on Oct. 1. DC Charulata Somal (since transferred) and Ishwar Kumar Khandoo, Assistant Director of Tourism Department, were present with all officials concerned. Work was at a standstill and when resumed fully will perhaps take at least six months plus to complete the basic shell of the structure.

The construction at this stage needs intervention to plaster internal laterite walls and prevent water cascading into the museum rooms to avoid monsoon infestation by insects and mildew. Step risers are beyond normal height to be convenient to the differently-abled, etc. And it is vital to certify the structural stability of the building as it stands now. In short, a lot more thought has to be given and much work has to be done to bring out a well-structured building in the first place. The building is only the first stage of work on this Heritage Centre.

SOM: What should be the composition of the Kodava Heritage Centre with respect to art, culture, tradition, people, community customs and beliefs?



Rathi Vinay Jha: This Centre was to showcase the history, ethnology, people, culture, language, customs, cuisine, coffee and spices, environment (flora/fauna etc.), architecture, attire, jewellery etc. It was also considered that a section of the museum be dedicated to the community's contribution to Defence Forces. It was to be a museum and resource centre focusing on the community in all aspects of their lives. Research for content creation for the museum and planning of interiors is a task that can be started once the issues of completing the construction are resolved.

SOM: Kodava Heritage Centre looks a bit disconnected from the community taking into account the fact that many Kodavas do not know about this Centre or even if they do, they are not bothered. This is not true when it comes to such heritage centres of other communities where there is full involvement in conservation and propagation of those cultures...

Rathi Vinay Jha: This project has been very much in the news. However, I hope this interview will bring it to the notice of many more! The site has also been visited by many community and political representatives. Last December representatives of Madikeri Kodava Samaja visited the site. It is now for the Government of Karnataka (Department of Tourism) that is funding the project to open up a dialogue with the community leaders and associations.

A Committee under the Chairmanship of the DC was constituted and did meet a couple of times in 2010-11. It is time that the idea of such a Committee is revisited by the DC with representatives of Kodava Samajas and other leaders as members. People's representatives like our MLAs and MLCs also have a big role to play. I heard that there was a visit to the site last month by some of them. So, our community leaders must take interest.

SOM: Will it be another museum of sorts without contributing much towards the preservation and furtherance of the community interests?

Rathi Vinay Jha: Such museums elicit a lot of visitor interest elsewhere. Here it is expected to serve the community as well as visitors from the diaspora and beyond. It should be a living museum, a conservatory of information on Kodavas, a place where researchers can seek knowledge, a Centre to facilitate documentation of history, exchange of ideas and a lot more. It will need to be sustained with care and attention. The Kodavas in Kodagu have a big role to play in its success. Ultimately, it is only the community that can make it happen.

SOM: What should be the role of Kodava Samajas and the Federation of Kodava Samajas in taking forward the Kodava Heritage Centre? To make a point here, all Kodava Samajas are not active except as marriage halls.

Rathi Vinay Jha: Kodava Samajas which are resident and active in Coorg should take the initiative to take this forward. And then invite Samajas from outside the district to join in. Since the Kodava Samaja in Madikeri has shown interest by the visit of its President to the site in December last year, they should meet the DC to set a plan of action. If this project is well directed, it will be an asset to Kodagu and the Kodavas. If there is a will there will be a way.

SOM: Of late many Kodava youth wings and organisations have been born and demonstrated that they can do exemplary work. What role do you foresee for them to take Kodava Heritage Centre initiative forward?

Rathi Vinay Jha: Yes, I have heard of a number of such organisations led by youths in the community. They are doing excellent work. They are our future. They cannot let the Kodavas vanish. They have an important role to play. The most important aspect is that we all need to be united in our mission. If we can put our minds together and speak in one voice, we can achieve a lot▪

Kodavas of Kodagu: A vanishing tribe?

Kaveri Ponnappa

A well-known research scholar and writer Kaveri Ponnapa of Kodava community had written a tome of a pictorial research book in the year 2013 titled "The Vanishing Kodavas" after 15 years of research in India and abroad.

And way back in the year 2004, when Rathi Vinay Jha, an IAS Officer from the Kodava community, was the Secretary, Ministry of Tourism, Government of India, New Delhi, she sanctioned the project as if she had the premonition of Kodavas becoming an extinct race over the next century or even before.

The project, aptly named 'Kodava Heritage Centre,' is conceptualised to preserve the memory of this endangered race for future generation of people living in Kodagu and outside. Kodava community and Kodagu, their homeland, are today at crossroads of a new democratic history of our country, India.

There is no positive response from the State or Central Governments for the preservation and development of this community and its landed property, clubbing them with the brute majority of other major communities. No wonder even after 10 years of starting the project it is not complete. Hence, the need to learn from Kaveri Ponnapa's book and greater need to listen to Rathi Vinay Jha, who has initiated this MOST IMPORTANT 'Kodava Heritage Centre' project. Every Kodava and their organisations must join hands with her. Only the united effort of Kodava community could get this project completed.

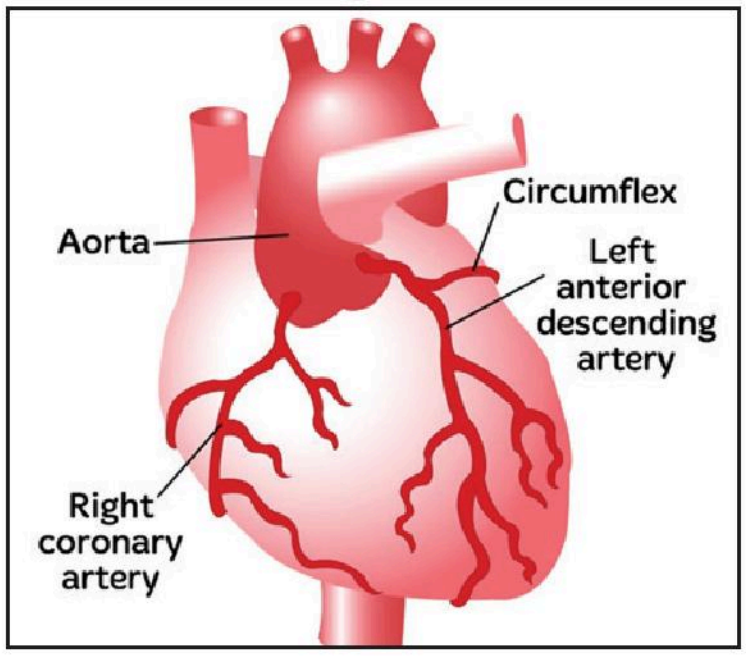
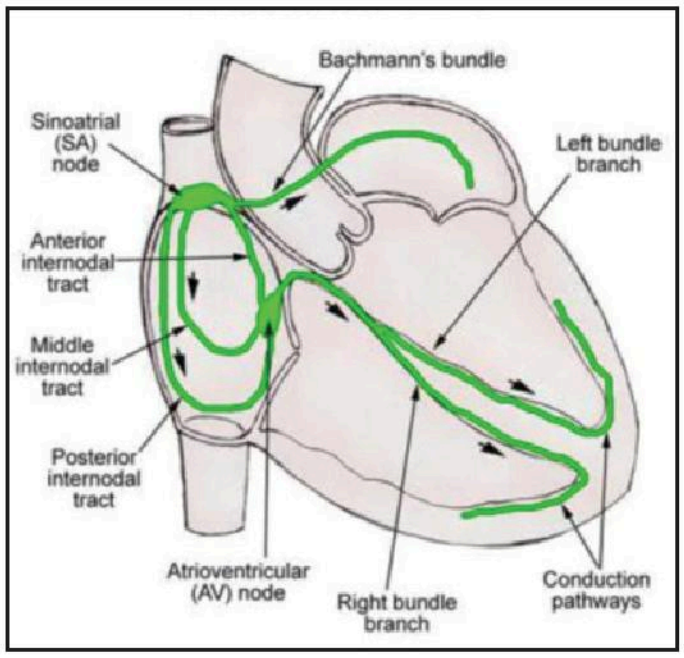
Sudden Cardiac Death: What you SHOULD know ?



The three coronary arteries around the heart.



The electrical conducting system of the heart.

The sudden passing away of the apparently 'Fit as a Fiddle' film actor, Puneeth Rajkumar, the 'Apple of the Eye' of every one of his fans, has not only shocked them but most other people too. This is so not only because of the suddenness of the event but because everyone naturally felt that it was not even the time for a young, active and healthy person to die. A third reason for the shock perhaps stems from the fact that most lay people believe that deaths like these are extremely rare. But contrary to this belief, Sudden Cardiac Death or SCD is a very well-known medical entity and a whopping three hundred and fifty thousand SCDs occur worldwide each year! Sadly, it is a problem which, despite all the advancements in medical science, has a very dismal survival rate with or without medical help, unlike most other medical problems.

And, again, contrary to most people's perceptions, SCDs are really not so sudden at all and therefore despite their lethality, they are fairly effectively prevented, rather than treated. It is just that most persons miss the early warning signs that certainly could have taken the 'suddenness' out of such an attack. Most people who die due to this problem die within ten minutes if medical help does not become available to them immediately.

And, sadly, more often than not, ten minutes is less than the time it takes for the people around to realise that something has gone wrong seriously with the person who has collapsed and it is not just another case of fainting due to exhaustion or an epileptic fit, let alone giving them the time to react and summon medical help.

Another sad fact is that any resuscitation after about five minutes may not be a very fruitful achievement because it takes less time than that for the cells of an oxygen-starved brain to die permanently, leaving the affected person completely brain dead and in a permanent vegetative state. In most cases, this suddenness therefore completely precludes the possibility of an ambulance or medical rescue team reaching the spot. Perhaps the only other medical event that kills people just as suddenly is a Pulmonary embolism, which thankfully is much rarer.

Studies show that many persons who succumb to SCD are the ones who missed the early warning signs and thus did not seek the help that could have saved their lives by preventing the fatal event. A medical study conducted at a leading heart hospital in New York has shown that at least fifty percent of the people who had a sudden cardiac arrest had some warning signs or symptoms up to a week before, which were missed by them and sometimes by their doctors too. And, while nearly eighty percent of them had such symptoms a day before, ninety percent of them had them an hour before the event.

And, in most cities across the world today, an hour is more than enough for the patient to reach a good medical facility or for a competent and adequately equipped medical team to reach the spot of the event. But unfortunately, it was found that only twelve percent of the people sought the medical help which could have saved their lives.

The events that usually herald a SCD are chest pain or chest discomfort in 46 percent of the cases with shortness of breath in 18 percent and nausea, abdominal pain or heart burn in 20 percent. While most people think that heart attacks are the reason why SCDs occur, they are only partly correct. Medical experts know that while heart attacks too can kill suddenly, it is the electrical disturbances in the heart which can cause it to stop working suddenly and helplessly, which are the real cause of SCDs. I feel that it will be worthwhile to enlighten you in a nutshell, about the difference between these two killer events.

A heart attack is actually a circulatory problem. The heart, which as we all know, is a pumping organ, actually has two circulatory systems in it. The larger one is the one that keeps the blood flowing through all parts of the body and the lungs while the smaller one is the one that keeps the blood flowing through its own muscle to keep it nourished and beating.

Interestingly, it is the much, much smaller system that is the potential killer! It is the three very narrow blood vessels, called the coronary arteries which are highly prone to getting blocked gradually due to fatty and calcific deposits or suddenly due to a wandering blood clot which when choked, can prevent blood flow to the heart muscle, leading to its death. And, a death of a sufficiently large portion of the heart muscle naturally translates into the death of its owner! But while heart attacks too can kill suddenly, most heart attacks thankfully give enough time for most patients to reach good hospitals where they can be treated.

On the other hand, an SCD is very often due to an electrical malfunction within the heart where the heart just stops beating which kills the patient much faster. Now, in addition to having a tiny circulatory system of its own, the heart also has an electrical conducting system which stimulates its muscle to keep beating steadily at its own normal pace, non-stop and life-long. Any malfunction of this electrical system can cause the heart to lose its rhythm and start beating too slowly or too rapidly or to become erratic and irregular. This loss of rhythm can be a much deadlier killer than any heart attack and our journey into this realm begins next weekend ! So, please stay tuned!

Puneeth's doctor gets security amid protests by fans

Bengaluru, Nov. 7- The Private Hospitals and Nursing Homes Association (PHANA) in Karnataka on Saturday sought protection for Ramana Rao, the family doctor of late Kannada superstar Puneeth Rajkumar, following protests and complaints against him by Puneeth's fans.

Puneeth had consulted Ramana Rao at his clinic the day he succumbed to a massive heart attack on October 29.

"PHANA is deeply concerned with the way healthcare is being portrayed in the media and public following the death of Puneeth Rajkumar. While we share the grief and shock of losing an young and popular actor, the turn of events post this are sad and calls for your immediate attention," PHANA President H.M. DC issues guidelines on use of groundwater

Mysuru, Nov. 7- In a bid to regulate use of groundwater, Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. Bagadi Gautham, who also heads the District Groundwater Committee, has issued guidelines for groundwater consumption by industries, commercial establishments, infrastructure development companies, mining units, entertainment and amusement parks, etc.

Dr. Gautham

According to a press release, the guidelines are as follows:

It is mandatory for industries, commercial establishments, infrastructure development agencies, miners, entertainment sector and the like, located in the city and district, to obtain a No-Objection Certificate (NOC) from all competent authorities for use of groundwater. They are required to apply online to get NOC through the website https://kgwasakala.karnataka.gov.in OR https://antharjala.karnataka.gov.in

Those who want to use groundwater for agriculture, horticulture, drinking water or other such purposes, should mandatorily obtain NOC from the concerned or jurisdictional local authorities such as City Corporation, Gram Panchayat, Town Municipal Council, City Municipal Council, Town Panchayat etc.

After obtaining permission, they have to submit application to Groundwater Development Department or Directorate of Groundwater seeking authentication of the spot which they have selected for digging borewells as well for the method of borewell digging.

As per the Karnataka Groundwater (Regulation and Control of Development and Management) Act, 2011, borewell rigging machines should have been registered with the Karnataka Groundwater Regulation Authority. Action will be taken against unregistered and unauthorised borewell riggers, if they are found illegally digging borewells in any part of Mysuru district.

As a measure to prevent kids and children from falling into unclosed or uncovered failed or discarded borewells, the people are required to immediately inform the concerned authorities about such uncovered or discarded borewells. Also, once informed, the authorities are supposed to cover them up immediately and thus ensure the safety of children. In case of any mishap, the owners of concerned lands as well as the owners of borewell rigs will only be held responsible for negligence or apathy and legal action will be initiated against them.

With groundwater levels depleting by the day in alarming proportions due to indiscreet use of groundwater, the people are asked to self-regulate use of groundwater and look at alternative means of water sourcing such as rainwater harvesting and recharge of groundwater.

For farming purposes, water feeding methods such as drip or sprinkler irrigation can be implemented. Other users such as industries, entertainment parks, etc. can set up Rainwater Harvesting Systems, Water Treatment Plants, Waste Water Recycling Plants, etc. for meeting their needs.

For details, visit the District Groundwater Office located on 3rd Main Road, 13th Cross, near Apollo Hospital, Kuvempunagar North, Saraswathipuram, Mysuru or call Ph: 0821-2340619.

Vatal Nagaraj warns of storming into Banks

Mysuru, Nov. 7 (RKB&DM)- Accusing the Centre of imposing Hindi in Karnataka, Kannada Chaluvali leader Vatal Nagaraj said that his party (Kannada Chaluvali Vatal Paksha) will storm into Banks and other Central Government organisations from Nov. 21 if the Centre does not stop its Hindi promotion actions.

Vatal Nagaraj was staging a demonstration at Jayachamaraja Wadiyar Circle (Hardinge Circle) here recently in protest against the Centre's Hindi imposition plans.

Charging the BJP and RSS of hatching a plot for imposition of Hindi throughout the country, Vatal said that an Action Committee will be formed in every district to fight the Centre's plans for Hindi imposition.

Strongly condemning the Centre's plans for Hindi imposition in Banks and other Central organisations and Institutions, Vatal alleged that though Banks needed the money of Kannadigas, they prefer to ignore Kannada usage in their functioning. Questioning the attitude of Banks towards Kannada, the Kannada Chaluvali leader urged Banks to make usage of Kannada mandatory.

Urging Banks and other Government offices to compulsorily use Kannada, Vatal warned of storming into Banks and other Government events if use of Kannada in administration is not made mandatory.

He also lashed out at the MPs of Karnataka to raise their voice against the step-motherly treatment meted out to Kannadigas.

Vatal also announced that he would contest for the Legislative Council seat from Mysuru-Chamarajanagar Local Bodies, the poll for which is due next year.

Lambasting the Government for paying meagre wages for Gram Panchayat members and heads, he demanded payment of minimum wages of Rs. 5,000 for GP members, Rs. 10,000 for Presidents and Rs. 7,500 for Vice-Presidents. He also warned of staging demonstrations in front of Tahsildar offices in all taluks of Mysuru and Chamarajanagar districts if the Government does not hike wages.

Vatal Paksha leaders H.R. Parthasarathy, Munawar, Kranti Kumar and T. Krishnamurthy were present.

Public Library building turns into a den for illegal activities

There are plans to open a PHC in the building, says Mayor

Mysuru, Nov. 7 (GA&KS)- The two-floor Public Library building on the 3rd Cross in KHB Colony, Kuvempunagar 4th Stage, adjacent to Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Ward No. 59, which was constructed by spending lakhs of rupees by the MCC, has now become a den for illegal activities.

The two-floor library building is in ruins since about five years with overgrown bushes and weeds around it making it a safe haven for miscreants to conduct illegal activities.

The library building is also a place for drunkards causing a sense of fear among the residents who are afraid to walk on the road during evenings.

Residents said that the library building was constructed at a cost of about 30 lakh in 2015-16, but no library was established in the building, which is in ruins now and expressed that the elected representatives were experts in wasting taxpayers' money.

Meanwhile, Mayor Sunanda Palanetra said that by looking at the building plan, there are plans to convert the library building into a Primary Health Centre (PHC) as a PHC is necessary for the Ward.

"This issue would be discussed with the officials concerned and a decision would be taken to open a PHC before January, 2022.

Mapping not properly done

The library building comes under my Ward. During de-limitation of Wards, MCC Revenue officials had not done the mapping properly, which had led to such a problem. As the officials had told me that the library building does not come under my ward but to the adjacent Ward No. 57, I had not visited the library building."

—Sunanda Palanetra, Mayor, Mysuru

Confusion

The building was constructed with an idea of opening a Public Library on the ground floor and a Gymnasium on the 1st floor. But after the de-limitation of Wards was undertaken, there was confusion that under which Ward the building comes.

WORD OF THE DAY

Eloquent

Pronunciation: EL-uh-kwunt.
Meaning: Eloquent means "having or showing the ability to use language clearly or effectively" or "clearly showing feeling or meaning."
Origin: Since eloquent has to do with speaking, it makes sense that it comes from the Latin verb loquī, which means "to talk or speak." (The adjective loquacious describes a person who is skilled at or has the inclination for talking.) Expression of the self can be seen and not heard, which gives meaning to eloquent as an adjective for nonverbal impressive acts.
Example: "Written as a dialogue with [Douglas Abrams], who has co-authored similar eloquent testaments with the Dalai Lama and Archbishop Desmond Tutu, this book mixes autobiographical details with a fiercely positive credo that has kept [Jane Goodall] fighting in the face of immense odds." — Kirkus Reviews, 1 Sept. 2021.

THE ODD WORD

Ecocide

Destruction of the environment.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Have the time of your life

Meaning: To enjoy yourself very much.
Origin: No one knows for sure what the origin of the idiom 'having the time of your life' is. This interesting phrase is derived from an even older one, 'having a good time,' which Sir Walter Scott introduced in his novel Rob Roy, which was written in 1817.
Example: "He had the time of his life working on the ranch."

Paris Masters-2021

Djokovic fulfills dream in breaking idol Pete Sampras' record

Medvedev sets up rematch with World No. 1 tonight

Paris, Nov. 7- Novak Djokovic gained some consolation in missing out on a Grand Slam sweep this year by being crowned season-ending World No. 1 for a record seventh time yesterday.

The 34-year-old Serbian had previously jointly held the record with Pete Sampras but took sole possession when he beat Poland's Hubert Hurkacz 3-6, 6-0, 7-6 (7/5) to reach the Paris Masters final.

Djokovic had taken a seven week break after his dreams of a Grand Slam sweep were dashed by Daniil Medvedev in the US Open final in September. However, the 20-time Grand Slam champion said on Friday the main reason for him returning this week was to seal the number one spot and break the record.

"It is a dream for me as Pete was my idol when I was a young boy," said Djokovic.

Djokovic can take some satisfaction that he has denied Medvedev the world number one spot, though the Russian admitted his chances of toppling the Serbian were slim.

Novak Djokovic during Paris Masers semifinals yesterday.

On the other hand, Reigning Champion Daniil Medvedev powered into his second consecutive Paris Masters final yesterday as he snapped Alexander Zverev's eight-match winning streak, downing the German 6-2, 6-2. With this win, the World No. 2 Medvedev sets up a rematch of the US Open final against Novak Djokovic in Paris.

Djokovic will take on Medvedev in final today (Nov. 7) at 7.30 pm (IST).
